I joined Nottingham BID in late August 2018. I have previous experience of working with the BID as the shop I ran was a levy payer. I am able to draw on this experience when planning campaigns.

So far I have ran Nottingham BID's first Halloween campaign which saw the Ghostbusters and Ecto 1 take to the streets amongst a trail for families to enjoy over the half term. I am currently working on Wellness Week, Home and Living and our Independents projects.

I managed Sue Ryder charity shop for five years- seeing it from an empty unit to a thriving specialist store. I have won awards for my visual merchandising and we were voted one of the top five best places to shop for vintage by online platform Refinery 29.

In my spare time I like to seek out independent stores and coffee shops. My latest hobby is minimalism...which is a change from my maximalist days!
